

Arijita Dutta is an Associate Professor in Economics in Calcutta University. She completed her master's degree from Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi and PhD from University of Calcutta. Her research interest is Health Economics, Development Economics and Econometrics. Arijita has a number of publications in National and International Journals to her credit and has completed a number of research projects. She has published a policy document on 'Hospital Efficiency in West Bengal', which has been used to shape different health policy in the state.

